Neighbor Finds Sociology Prof Dead in Garage

The body of Dr. Heinz J. Graalfs, 39, assistant professor of sociology, was found early yesterday morning slumped over the steering wheel of his automobile in his closed garage at 4572 Venice Way. The County Coroner's Office report listed death as apparent suicide, said George Hannah, deputy coroner. No note was found.

The Coroner's Office gave the cause of Dr. Graalfs' death as carbon monoxide poisoning. The professor apparently had left the motor of his automobile running with his garage doors closed, coroner's office spokesman said.

Coroner's reports listed the time of death at 2:30 a.m. yesterday. A neighbor, Donald W. Paul, 4482 Venice Way, found Dr. Graalfs' body.

The sociology professor, who had been teaching at SJS since 1957, had filed for divorce from Mrs. Marilyn Lorraine Heilfron Graalfs. In turn, Mrs. Graalfs filed a cross-complaint, asking that the court ignore Graalfs' original divorce plea and award her a divorce instead.

Dr. Graalfs came to SJS after teaching at the University of Oregon.

Milton B. Rendahl, head of the Sociology and Social Work Department said "Professor Graalfs will be sorely missed; he will be a difficult man to replace."

Dr. Graalfs was described by one former student as "a favorite among his classes." He received his A.B. degree from San Francisco State College in 1947 and his M.A. at the same school in 1951. His Ph.D. was obtained from the University of Washington in 1955. Funeral services are pending at Monahan, Moriarty and O'Brien Mortuary.

Air Meet Features Jumps

By GREGORY H. BROWN

A parachute jumping demonstration conducted by the SJS Para-jumpers will be one of the signal features of the 10th annual Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Air Meet on Saturday.

The meet, sponsored by the SJS Flying 20 Club, is slated for Reid's Hillview Airport. More than 85 colleges in the seven western states have been invited to participate in the meet. Prime function of such a meet is to promote safety in college aviation.

The activities will consist mainly of five events. Only the last two will be judged for college competition. These are the 180 degree "power-off" landing and the water-bomb dropping. The first three events will give private pilots an opportunity to exercise their precision at landings ranging from 180 degrees to 360 degrees according to Jerry French, publicity adviser.

The contestants will be judged on safety, landings and take-offs, and numerous flying techniques. Judges will be A. A. Gossard, aviation safety agent for the Federal Aeronautics Association, and Thomas E. Leonard, head of the SJS Aeronautics Dept.

Following the competition, Walter Zimmerman of Lockheed's Missiles and Space Division and supervisor of the Discoverer satellite test equipment design, will speak at an award banquet scheduled for the cafeteria at 8 p.m.

Zimmerman, who has 2000

hours of flying to his credit, will address the group on "Family Flying."

This year marks the first time the Intercollegiate Air Meet has been held at San Jose. For the past two years the meet has taken place in Glendale where the SJS

Flying 20 Club has won many first place honors. A demonstration of the H23, a new three-man utility helicopter built by Hiller Helicopters, also will take place during the Air Show. Several San Jose firms also will have aircraft on display.

Flying 20 Air Meet

Don Schmidtko (right) and Doug Preston are only two of the many members of the Flying 20 aviation club taking part in the 10th annual Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Air Meet slated for Reid's Hillview Airport Saturday. The local campus group will sponsor the meet in which more than 85 colleges will participate.

Oral Grant Given Today In Theater

The $50 Dorothy Kaucher Oral Reading Award will be presented today following judging of the final contest at 4 p.m. in Studio Theater.

Thirty students originally entered competition for the award, and elimination readings have narrowed this down to seven finalists.

They will be judged by Dr. Helene Blattner, professor of speech and drama at Stanford; Dr. Alice Dement, SJS associate professor of psychology, and Dr. Harold Miller, head of the SJS English Department.

Finalists will read in order determined by lot. With their selections, they are:

Gilbert A. Gillespie, "The Hasty Heart"; Yvonne Jackson, "The Little Girl"; Dan Knowles, "Dominions Beyond"; Jay Michels, "Tobermory"; Joan Scott, "After The Death of His Wife"; and Harry Stephens, "The Great Wide World Over There."

Introduction will be by Noreen LaBarge Mitchell, assistant professor of speech. She will read a letter from Dr. Kaucher, who is on her way to Europe.

Presentation of the award will be made by Dr. Hugh Gillis, SJS professor of speech and former head of the department. Both Dr. Gillis and Dr. Kaucher have been with the Speech and Drama Department more than 25 years, and helped build it to its present size and scope.

The Kaucher award each year is the object of intense competition among oral readers.

Contestants will be judged on choice of material, communication of author's intent, voice and diction, and effectiveness of performance.

Pup To Undergo Surgery Today

A German shepherd pup will undergo a spaying operation in the SJS television center today at 1:30. It will be performed by Dr. Robert E. Richter, assistant professor of zoology.

"The operation is being done for the Biology Department seminar, so they may see the techniques used by a veterinary," said Dr. Richter.

RESULT OF PUBLIC HEARING

Senator Will Reconsider Finance-Regulating Bills

By JIM ADAMS
News Editor

Action on Senate bills which would regulate state college student funds was postponed in a Senate Committee yesterday after some 50 witnesses appeared in Sacramento to protest the legislation.

Sen. George Miller Jr. (D-Contra Costa), author of the bills, listened to objections and debate on his plans for nearly three hours in a public hearing before the Senate Committee on Education.

The senator said he wants some kind of state college regulation written into law to prevent "misuse of funds." But he told a three-man student delegation several times: "I'm not about to push through legislation that would hurt student bodies."

San Jose State graduate student Stanley Stevens was a member of the three-man delegation representing the combined student bodies of all 12 state colleges.

Stevens said the public hearing was very constructive. He added: "Sen. Miller was very cooperative and was willing to listen to our views. But it may be hard to change his plans."

"He said he doesn't want to hurt us. We have to show him how the bills as they read now would hurt us."

The student delegation has scheduled a second meeting with Sen. Miller for May 15.

Next week state college presidents and the Board of Education will meet in San Fernando. Stevens said they are expected to consider the bills and submit a recommendation to Sen. Miller.

In an attempt to satisfy opposition, the senator last week amended his bills, striking out the controversial "Student body funds shall be subject to accountability and regulation by the Department of Finance."

Stevens commented earlier this week: "The regulation of student body funds appears to be lessened, but I think it's still there under a more general interpretation."

As amended the bills would: —Make college cafeterias, bookstores, student housing and student projects subject to regulations established by the Department of Education.

—Forbid students or alumni to receive donations for scholarships or student loans or to donate to any political campaign.

—Forbid students or alumni to lend money to or purchase property for any college official or employee.

—Forbid college officials to solicit money for any purpose not directly related to educational functions of the college.

—Require auxiliary organizations to conform to regulations established by the director of education.

Stevens pointed out to committee members yesterday that Director of Education Roy Simpson in 1956 defined "auxiliary" organizations as fraternities, sororities and other non-profit clubs.

There are no reserved seats for the annual show, starring Jon Hazen and Miss Cook.

Personality Opinion Link Held True

"Opinion and Personality" is a tedious book to read, is mistitled, and difficult to draw any conclusions from, but the theories on personality-opinion relationships is an excellent basis for further study, James L. McGaugh, assistant professor of psychology, said at yesterday's book talk.

"Taking the opinions of 10 men on the Soviet Union hardly constitutes an opinion poll to me," he said. "I think the opinions expressed are really attitudes linked to the person's personality."

The book, he said, tries to show the relationship between a person's attitudes and his personality by questioning him about a subject, taking the answers and trying to correlate them with the person's life history.

The reasoning behind this procedure, he said, is that the authors feel a person's beliefs are strongly linked to past experiences. The subject's childhood, for instance, paves the way for attitudes, as do currently unresolved problems, he said.

McGaugh added that the study, taken at Harvard in 1947, was expressly interested in getting a cross-section of persons of differing religions, economic, educational and cultural backgrounds to see how they reacted to the questions of what they thought of Russia, her beliefs and actions.

Editorial

Advertising Fiasco
Spurs SPUR Criticism

SPUR winners won't officially take office for another week and already they have been verbally attacked for "illegal" advertising during last week's election.

Thursday's Spartan Daily ran an advertisement paid for by Rich Hill, who then was one of three ASB presidential candidates.

Inserted in the issues were small SPUR advertising cards. The cards were inserted WITHOUT the permission of the Spartan Daily Advertising Manager, Ron Kelley.

Addition of the inserted cards did not mean the Daily was endorsing Mr. Hill; in fact, nothing could be farther from the truth.

The Daily does not take an editorial stand on political candidates.

We are grateful that candidates decide to use the Daily's columns as a means of advertising.

However, action taken by Hill's followers after stamping of the advertisement is juvenile.

Later this week, graduate student Stan Stevens announced that SPUR should be disciplined by Student Court for illegal advertising.

We commend the actions of Stevens and hope the Student Court will take the necessary steps to make certain an incident like this won't happen again.

"If you're in the minority, you have to do better," says Richard Lindblad, who is in a decided minority. James Pruitt, in the same minority, says, "I felt rather self-conscious at first as the only male student in class." Both men are sophomore nursing majors.

They are the lone males in a woman's world of 161 nursing majors.

This situation has both drawbacks and advantages. "We're usually laughed at," says Lindblad. Pruitt commented, "We just laugh it off."

Lindblad observed that although his friends tease him about going into nursing because of the "harem," they ask him to get them dates.

One of the reasons for the good-natured kidding is because "some people really are surprised that male nurses exist. They just won't believe that we're nursing majors," Pruitt explained. However, Lindblad added, "Many persons really respect us."

Kidding doesn't bother the men because "doctors are enthusiastic about us; they know the need for male nurses," Lindblad said. "I'm very happy in nursing. We won't have the obligations that a doctor has."

He added, "One nice thing about it is that one always has the assurance of work."

Both stressed the necessity of being "emotionally stable and mature to deal with patients' problems."

They also said that one must be willing to work in "other than ordinary circumstances."

They tell of a "definite feeling of accomplishment" that comes from working with patients, but admitted that they sometimes become "disgusted with people" and that nursing is "sometimes depressing."

Lindblad, 21, is working as a full-time orderly at San Jose Hospital. He became interested in nursing because his mother works in a hospital.

Pruitt, 24, is married and has a child. He became interested in nursing while serving in the medical in the Army. He did psychiatric nursing and worked as an orderly in a civilian hospital. Both students are from the Midwest, Pruitt from Missouri and Lindblad from Iowa.

Lindblad termed the San Jose State Nursing Department's degree "an exceptionally fine one for male nurses."

The SJS nursing program includes general ward duty, caring for the immediate needs of the patients and classes at local hospitals.

"They have the same experience as the women students. We feel it is best," said Michael Buggy, nursing instructor, who advises the men students.

This experience includes observing and assisting in the labor room, delivery room, and nursery during the current semester.

THE TOGETHERNESS CULT runs off a publicity sheet every 30 days called McCall's. McCall's is a gentle magazine, it will harm no one, it is devoted to teaching sheep new and better ways of flocking so they will not catch cold in the icy world.

Anyway—last month, a "famous" psychiatrist (and I implore you, are there any psychiatrists who are not famous?) got some of his lunacy published, in which he called for a little more thinking when it comes to buying gifts for children. This is a thinking age, you see.

The article was headed, "How to Choose a Good Toy for Your Child," and the bearded one listed several qualifications which every "good" toy must have.

I WILL REVIEW some of the doctor's criteria as a public service for new parents who might accidentally buy some of this fellow's freshly fried tripe. I imagine there are some living people who actually cannot tell a good toy from a bad toy; but they needn't worry so long as they can trust their judgment when it comes to picking a psychiatrist's advice to follow.

"Is it a toy the child is ready for?" our psychiatrist asks with furrowed head. I think that is irrelevant; however—has anyone stopped to consider if the toy is ready for the child?

"Is it practical and will it work as it is supposed to?" he says. That is a good one. I never had a toy in my life that didn't go to pieces 20 minutes after it left the toy store. Then would I ever catch it! Wow!

"Will upkeep on it be high?" the doctor would like to know. I didn't know yo-yos were running into upkeep these days; yo-yo string never bankrupted me.

"IS IT SAFE, does it have smooth edges?" he wants to know. The famous psychiatrist would have been somewhat discouraged had he seen the kids in our neighborhood running around with dagger-sharp sticks in their hands playing commandos and cowboys.

"Gotcha, Tommy!" and we would thrust the pointed broomstick homeward. More than a few would-be Lone Rangers turned back to the hopscotch squares after a run-in with our block! The rock wars made cowards of us all, but still we fought 'til the end, defending the honor of the gang with valor not uncommon in backyard battles.

Both men were assigned several infants to care for, and both say they are enjoying their year of "maternity." Pruitt said, "It's helped me a lot. I just became a father."

Local Track Fans May See Spartans Compete on TV

Possibility of televising the West Coast Relays in the 11 western states, was brought out in a recent meeting of the WCR games committee.

According to a Fresno State College Collegian, student newspaper, negotiations with the American Broadcasting Company are in process and the only difficulty to be ironed out is the problem of a crew.

The cost of sending a full TV crew from Los Angeles would be too high, according to games committee member Joe Drilling. A deal is now in process to have local cameramen make up the bulk of the crew, if union officials will go along with it.

Williams, Holden Shine on Mound

A sparkling one-hit pitching job by lefthanders Larry Williams and Dick Holden, highlighted the Spartan sweep of a doubleheader from St. Mary's Gaels Tuesday night at Municipal Stadium.

Starter Williams gave up the only hit, a single in the third inning by Gael third baseman Bob Tamorini. Williams struck out 13 batters in his five-inning stint. Holden came on in the sixth and struck out four. Four Gael batsmen reached first base via the free pass route, in the Spartan 7-1 rout.

Williams, in garnering the victory, moved his season record to five wins and four losses. Frank Holly was charged with the loss for the Gaels. It was the sixth game for St. Mary's in four days.

Jim Pusateri and Don Christiansen led the SJS hitters with two hits each. Emmett Lee was credited with a double and two RBIs. In the first game, righthander Bill Leach notched his sixth win as the Spartans slammed the Gaels for 13 hits in registering a lopsided 11-3 win.

Leach led the hit parade with two booming triples and a single in three times at bat. Lee garnered three hits with Jerry Baker and Pusateri each collecting two.

Doug McChesney slammed out his second home run of the season. Both homers have come at the expense of Gael hurlers.

Harry Carpenter was the losing pitcher for St. Mary's. Third baseman Jack Barreles was the top hitter for the Gaels with three hits in four trips to the plate.

Leach, Baker, and McChesney were each credited with two RBIs. The Spartans will close out their West Coast Athletic Conference season Friday night, with a single game against USC Dons in Municipal Stadium. SJS holds three previous wins over the Bay City crew.

LINE DRIVES: San Diego Marines will supply the opposition for SJS when they meet in a single game Saturday afternoon in Municipal Stadium ... final season game for the Spartans will be Tuesday night when the Sacramento State Hornets meet SJS. ... SJS now has a 19-20 season record ... in WCAC play they are 8-7 ... Santa Clara copped the WCAC title with a record of 13-1, with two games remaining ... SJS is in second place.

Both Miss Freitag and her opponent were unseeded in the 11-school tourney. Miss Freitag's victory came after four matches.

She was a ranked tennis player while in high school but has not played since last semester. She says she will not continue in competitive tennis because, "tennis is too hard; I don't have the stamina for it."

Two other Spartan coeds, Nancy Angle, and Natalie Goldblatt, reached the finals in the doubles consolation bracket.

This Is Baseball?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The powerful University of Southern California baseball team racked up what USC players believe is a new scoring record by humbling Occidental College 35-2 in a seven-inning non-league game, Tuesday.

The Trojans scored 25 or their runs in the first three innings.

49ers Ink Contracts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers announced the signing of defensive halfback Dick Moegle and offensive guard Bruce Bosley yesterday.

Moegle, an all-pro choice in 1956-57, sat out most of last year with an injured knee, but doctors report he will be ready when training camp opens August 1.

Child Activity Leads To Various Studies

Throwing a "fast ball" can do more than start a child on his path to baseball's Hall of Fame; it also may turn him into a linguist, mathematician, or scientist.

Physical education activities to help interest children in other school studies is one of the topics to be discussed at the June 15-19 workshop, part of SJS 1959 summer sessions.

The week-long course is open to both men and women elementary school teachers. They will be instructed on how to develop correct movement skills and activities for all grade levels.

Also being offered during summer is "Challenges of an Aging Population", a special workshop to help community leaders understand this social problem.

Mrs. Helen S. Wilson, gerontology lecturer at the University of New Hampshire, will lead the discussion.

Problems to be discussed include relationship of an aging population to health, recreation, dependency, housing, religion and community resources.

Constitution Vote Slated by GOP Club

A vote on ratification of the proposed new Young Republican constitution will highlight their meeting tonight at 7:30 in TH21.

Two films concerning American government will be shown preceding the vote, President Dan Jacobson said yesterday.

The group also will plan for election of next semester's officers and air ideas for recruiting members.

Demos 'Unite' Here Tonight

Young Democrats on campus will have an opportunity to "unite" tonight at 7:30 p.m. in SB326, according to Dale Scott, former president of the Young Republicans club. "Tonight will be our second meeting, but our first real attempt to become organized," he said.

The group will soon seek campus recognition, Scott said. He invites all interested students to attend tonight's meeting.

Many prominent Democrats have been contacted to address the local group including Roger Kent, State Democratic Chairman. Scott said Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and other presidential candidates also have been invited to speak at SJS.

A birthday celebration in San Francisco tomorrow night for former President Harry S. Truman will be attended by several of the Spartan "Young Democrat" members, Scott said.
